

Relationships With Integrity

Home School Edition Licensing Agreement

Dear Home Schooling Parent,

I've walked in your shoes as a home schooling mom of five children. My experience confirmed there is no more important job for a parent than to help their son or daughter understand truth, especially as it relates to their relationship with God and others. Parents are the most powerful voice in relationship education. As President of The Legacy Institute, I am committed to making sure all of our resources put parents back in the driver's seat when it comes to their family's education about relationships and sexuality. This is why our team spent three years developing and testing a biblical relationship worldview curriculum called Relationships With Integrity. This K-12 curriculum helps you teach your values and includes important, age appropriate truth about:

- Our relationship to God and others
- Why God intentionally designed us as a boy or girl
- The sacred nature of life at all stages
- The importance of the family
- How to live as whole, healthy people
- The path of holiness and right choices
- How to live with sexual integrity throughout our whole lives
- God's amazing design of our bodies and the gift of fertility
- God's intentional plan for our love story
- The power of choice and the importance of authority
- The sacred role of marriage in our lives and society

Relationships With Integrity is biblical, conservative, engaging and honors your role as parent while providing your son and daughter with a positive, life changing experience. This K-12th grade curriculum is academically rigorous, increases parent child communication and is easy to facilitate making your job a little easier. While the most intimate conversations will happen between you and your child, some of the material is designed to work in a group setting allowing for positive reinforcement. This licensing agreement allows you to use Relationships With Integrity at home or in your coop with up to five other home school families.
